who we are

We are a Jewish foundation on a mission to bring much needed emotional healing to every community in the world through our self-sustaining programs.

Our flagship program, Brushstrokes of Emotion, "BoE," is the foundation of our sustainability model.

"BoE" is an entirely free program hosted in cities all around the world. It offers a unique healing modality that combines powerful concepts from art therapy and group therapy in a two-hour guided meditative painting class.

The art created in these events is offered in an online healing gallery that auctions the art as NFTs and helps people find connections online.

The royalties we receive from these auctions allow us to sustain our healing program, fund grants to pay for mental health services, and donate generously to our partner charities around the world.
